Looking back at my own experience with Minecraft, it's so easy to see why people were so obsessed with it. The game was all about survival. It was about building a new life out of nothing. Things that would make you successful weren't free; they required you to work hard for them. But they were worth the wait, because it would mean you'd gather more items over time, and then you could make your house bigger or better fortified. The game was about connecting with your friends, and making sure that they were safe and able to live their own lives in the Minecraft world as well.

I really liked playing my own games because it was fun to design a new world for my friends and myself. In my game I could make up anything I wanted. I could add trains, people, animals and pretty much anything else you can think of. I also liked making my own avatar because it gives me a lot of choices in making the way they look. Another thing I was really interested in was Roblox role play which is basically acting like someone else for a little while. You can choose one of your friends or even make up a new person and act like them until you want to stop again. This is good for kids because they get to learn how to act like they're someone else. It's also good for when they have to act in school and it can teach them a lot of things.
